

In cathedrals, public spaces, even commercial buildings, daylight bestows a richness and a sense of energy that inspires. In diffuse natural light people learn, they create, they accomplish... and they stay.

When that diffused daylighting comes from Solera® glass-based insulated translucent glazing, the aesthetic meets the inspiration.

Vision and translucent surfaces integrate seamlessly with a crispness and grace that will last a lifetime.

High performance insulated translucent glazing units with the quality and permanence that comes only with glass.
